

About the Author

David McKay Barker was born in Salt Lake City, and currently resides in Utah.

Graduated from Arizona State University with a BS in Business, but also enjoyed classes in:

- Archaeology of Mesoamerica
- Astronomy
- Biology
- Chemistry
- Communications
- The Talmud
- Writing (non-fiction)

Career: Bank Examiner, and Consumer Credit Specialist (now retired).

After more than 40-years of spare-time study on the subject, his first book is in the production phase—with an estimated availability date of October 2013. Other publications: articles in the periodicals of the Society for Interdisciplinary Studies, Chronology & Catastrophism Workshop, and Chronology & Catastrophism Review.

He enjoys learning and sharing, and has taught numerous classes and larger groups on:

- Avoiding Frauds, Scams, and other Financial Problems
- Debt: Get out and Stay Out
- Money Talks: If You Aren't Careful, It Just Says "Goodby"
- Conflicts Between Science and Religion
- Early Scriptural Texts
- Gospel Subjects
- Personal Management Merit Badge (Boy Scouts of America)

He welcomes comments and requests: ddbarker@comcast.net.